Lei of the Land

Since May 1, 1928, Hawaii has celebrated the first of May as Lei Day. Lei—those beautiful garlands constructed of flowers, leaves, shells, seeds, nuts, feathers, and even bones and teeth are given at birthdays, weddings, retirements, funerals, and graduations—any occasion one wishes to show honor, love, or high regard. While the lei's history dates back to the earliest Polynesian settlers of Hawaii, the holiday itself was introduced by Don Blanding, a poet from Oklahoma who had resettled in Hawaii.

The first Hawaiians adorned themselves with local flowers and vines. Certain lei flowers identified where you lived on the islands. Other lei represented your rank, wealth, or whether you were royalty. Many lei were not made of short-lived flowers or vines at all but of hardy bones and shells. In fact, lei were worn not just for celebrations or rituals but for everyday tasks by both commoners and chiefs alike.

Today, there is still a wide variety of lei, each unique to a particular occasion. The hala lei, made from the red fruit of the pandanus tree, is a symbol of cleansing and can be worn at funerals or for the new year. A delicate ilima blossom lei is the distinctive lei of royalty and is worn on special occasions. Lehua lei, made from blossoms associated with the fire goddess, are indicative of strength. Pikake is the flower of romance, worn at weddings. Plumeria lei are used to welcome guests but should never be given to sick people, as they are bad luck for those in ill health. Lei are woven into both the nature and mythology of Hawaii. They are not just given in love and esteem but as symbols that tell ancient and important stories.

Lei Day offers myriad opportunities to celebrate this unique form of art and culture, the greatest of which takes place in Waikiki on Oahu, where there is music, a lei competition, hula performances, craft demonstrations, and plenty of food for all.

Everything Old Is New Again

Mending clothes is a lost art. Rather than patch holes or sew popped seams, Americans prefer to buy entirely new garments. The average American throws out 81 pounds of clothes each year, leading to 13 million tons of textiles sitting in our landfills. I Need a Patch for That Day, on May 21, is a day to reverse this trend. Recycled clothing is suddenly trendy. Outdoor clothing manufacturer Patagonia has been a leader in the sustainable clothing movement, making fleece out of plastic bottles and asking customers to buy fewer of their clothes. When garments get worn, they provide mending services in their repair shop, even reselling used clothing via their website. The Seattle company Evrnu has taken recycled clothing a step further. They take old garments, break down the fibers to the molecular level, and spin brand new fibers to make new clothes. Who needs a patch with technology like this?

Man's Best Friends

May 6–12 is Pet Week, a week to honor our nonhuman companions. Pets have been shown to make us more empathetic and even interact more with others. Pets also offer many health benefits, too, such as lower stress, sharper executive function, even a reduction in physical pain. Moreover, people who own pets get more exercise, both physically and mentally.

In many ways, our pets do much more than just act as companions. Three-year old Alida Knobloch of Georgia is literally attached to her pet goldendoodle, Mr. Gibbs. That's because Mr. Gibbs carries her heavy oxygen tank. Alida suffers from a rare form of lung disease that makes it difficult for her to breathe without assistance. With Mr. Gibbs by her side and an oxygen tank carried on the dog's back, Alida is able to run and play. Alida's family is so grateful that they call Mr. Gibbs Alida's "four-legged lifeline."

When a wildlife park became overcrowded with animals, Casey Anderson stepped in to save a baby grizzly bear. Little did Anderson know that the bear, named Brutus, would grow to be one of his best friends and even be the best man at his wedding! Anderson's love of grizzlies led him to found the Montana Grizzly Encounter sanctuary. When Brutus isn't roaming the park, he may be found cuddling with Anderson or eating at the dining room table.

An eight-year-old girl from Seattle befriended an entire flock of crows. As a four-year-old, she often spilled food in her yard, attracting the birds. Over the years she began to intentionally feed them. The crows, one of nature's cleverest animals, were so grateful that they began to bring her gifts in return: buttons, toys, dead fish, rocks, even a plastic heart, which, the girl says, proves "how much they love me." Animals may not be human, but they often bring out the best in us, so during Pet Week make sure you do your part to thank the animal that has given you so much.

Dreaming of a White Christmas

Bing Crosby had no idea that on May 29, 1942, his recording of Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" would become the world's most popular song. The recording took Crosby just 18 minutes, as part of an album for the movie musical Holiday Inn, and neither he nor Berlin thought the song was a hit. However, it went on to win the Academy Award for Best Original Song, and it hit number one on the pop charts in October of 1942, two months before Christmas. Irving Berlin, as a Jewish-American, did not celebrate Christmas, but he sure knew how to write a hit song, even one without any mention of magical characters or religion. The song's slow and melancholy longing for the cozy holidays of yesteryear was what audiences craved. What really propelled the song to superstardom was its inclusion on Armed Forces Radio. GIs fighting overseas during World War II loved the song, and Crosby performed it regularly for them. Audiences still love "White Christmas." With over 100 million copies sold worldwide, it remains the best-selling song of all time.

Lucky Lindy

On May 20, 1927, Charles Lindbergh pointed his Spirit of St. Louis airplane down the runway of Roosevelt Field, Long Island, and 33 1/2 hours later he landed in Paris, France. A crowd of 100,000 greeted him as a hero. Lindbergh had become the first person to fly solo across the Atlantic Ocean. Before becoming a national hero, Lindbergh was a mail pilot. He had heard of a promotion, offered by a New York hotelier: the first person to fly from New York to Paris would be awarded a prize of $25,000. Many attempted the flight and failed, but Lindbergh would succeed. He supervised the building of a custom plane. With four sandwiches, two canteens of water, and 451 gallons of gas, he made the flight and etched his name into the history books.

Mother May I?

Sunday, May 13 is Mother's Day in the United States, Australia, and Canada. In Mexico, Día de las Madres is Thursday, May 10. In France, La Fête des Mères is Sunday, May 27. After Christmas and Easter, Mother's Day is the third-most celebrated holiday in the world, but the way mothers are honored differs from place to place.

In the United States, the most typical gift given to mom is a Mother's Day card and flowers. It may come as no surprise that the vast majority of Mother's Day cards—80% in fact—are not bought by men but by women. A mother's job is never done, it seems, not even on Mother's Day.

Mother's Day wasn't always celebrated by buying cards, flowers, chocolates, and jewelry. It was Anna Jarvis who fought to establish the national holiday. Jarvis was inspired largely by her own mother, who had organized "Mother's Day work clubs," where women would tend to soldiers wounded during the Civil War and tackle problems that led to infant mortality. Indeed, Jarvis proposed Mother's Day as a day to honor women like her mother, who had played greater political roles for the benefit of society. She was disgusted when her holiday turned into a commercial bonanza for those hawking flowers and candy. Jarvis spent her life fighting what Mother's Day had become.

In most countries these days, Mother's Day is celebrated by showering gifts and attention on mom. In Mexico, it is tradition on Día de las Madres to serenade mom in the morning before church and then prepare dinner for her. France's La Fête des Mères originated as a way for the French government to honor the mothers of large families with a gold medal. It was a means to encourage French women to have more children and repopulate the country after World War I. By the 1950s, consumer appeal and a rising birth rate transformed the holiday into one more commercially aligned with the United States. And why not take one day out of the year to recognize their vital importance?

May Birthdays

In astrology, those born between May 1–20 are Taurus' Bulls. Bulls are hardworking, ambitious, honest, and dedicated to finishing tasks with a dogged persistence. Once the work is done, a Taurus expects to enjoy the fruits of their labor. Those born between May 21–31 are Gemini's Twins. They have two distinct and alluring sides to their personality: sociable and ready for fun, or serious and thoughtful. Sometimes they feel as if one half is missing, so they forever seek new friends.

A Long Time Ago...

"May the Fourth be with you." So say the millions of Star Wars fans who will celebrate Intergalactic Star Wars Day on May 4.

What has made Star Wars one of the most beloved and successful film franchises in history? When it was released on May 25, 1977, it blew audiences away. In the middle of an era when dark and brooding films were all the rage, this space adventure with cutting-edge special effects, wild aliens, strange other worlds, funny banter, and an amazing musical score was a breath of fresh air. Star Wars creator George Lucas had mined both high- and low-brow sources for his space opera, paying homage to the filmmakers he had studied during his film school years. What grew out of that first film is a media empire as far-reaching as the evil Empire itself.
